Dear Customer,

The new EU chemicals policy REACH (Registration, Evaluation, Authorization and restriction of Chemicals) came into effect on June 1st 2007. Cirris Systems Corporation has responded to customer concerns regarding this legislation; this letter summarizes our progress to date with information regarding REACH and Cirris Systems Corporation.

There are many web sites containing detailed information on REACH, we would also recommend you visit the European Chemicals Agency site, <http://echa.europa.eu>.

Cirris Systems Corporation is supporting REACH at a corporate and strategic level. As a market leader of electronic test equipment, we are participating with all requirements as stated by the EU. The initial stage of REACH focuses on the registration of chemical substances where the total manufactured, or imported quantities into the European Union, exceed 1000 Kg.

Cirris Systems Corporation neither imports nor exports chemical substances into or out of the EU. The small amount of chemicals used in our manufacturing process are confined within the United States and none are exported outside of our facility. Therefore, the REACH legislation does not apply to Cirris and is not applicable to our business.

If you have any questions or concerns please feel free to check our web site at www.cirris.com or to call us for more information. (800) 441-9910 USA

Kind regards,
